"Action in the PYP is the most profound evidence of understanding - it's an assessment. A learning which has inspired us so much that we act and change our behavior accordingly."

Music Selections

Mrs. Yordanova
4th/5th grade Music Director

Our opening tune, “Blowin’ in the Wind” originally composed by Bob Dylan and further popularized by the folk trio, Peter, Paul, and Mary, brings attention to the need to treat one another with justice, equality, and caring. It poses a problem and suggests the solution is within our grasp if only we will reach out.

Our second song, “I’d Like to Teach the World to Sing” while originally written as an advertisement, quickly became a socially-minded anthem of the 1970’s. It speaks of hope, love and caring. This utopian song, while idealistic, gives us a picture of who we could be. Hope springs eternal, and who better to raise this anthem of caring, than the voices of the future, our children.

West Hills Alma Meter

We stand together at West Hills, the Blue and White at our side
As Knowledge brings us courage gently comes our pride
Through winter, snow and raindrops, the years are quickly washed away.
But memories of West Hills, within our hearts will stay.
But memories of West Hills, within our hearts will stay.

We look ahead with wonder to a world that’s safe and good and free.
Oh, West Hills give us wisdom, to keep our dignity.
Our minds are sending the truth. Our hands are learning to be strong.
And laughter fills our youth. Our voices filled with song.
And laughter fills our youth. Our voices filled with song.
